Low Cost Shipping _ from Tom (W4IEE) pirateship.com

I just had to send my Flex PGXL amp back to its mothership for repair. This is its second trip so it knows the way.

In talking with other hams up here in the Ocala FL area it was suggested to me, rather than going directly to UPS (or FedEx, etc), to go to pirateship.com, which I did. The shipping w/insurance came out to be about $25 less for a UPS label than going to UPS

Not a scam. I dropped the package off at UPS this morning, it scanned and I have a receipt.

As near as I can figure pirateship has some nationwide (world-wide?) contract with UPS and they simply discount their services, probably because they have no brick and mortar to maintain. Who knows...but its less expensive than UPS directly.

****

Low Cost Shipping _ from Tom (W4IEE) pirateship.com