Doug Young, KM4LKC mentioned to the group that there is an existing semi-local 10 meter net, namely the Windmill Net at 9pm on Sunday evenings on 28.450 USB, using horizontal polarization.

Tonight's program: by Doug Young, KM4LKC. "The Charlotte Amateur Radio Society Emergency Communications Exercises"

Doug began his presentation by thanking those who participated in Phase 1 of this exercise, which took place on December 5, 2020. He also summarized some of the previous amateur radio emergency activities that has taken place in the Charlotte County area. He then explained that these exercises take place with the assumption of the lack of access to the internet and telephones (landline and cellular), as well as severe travel limitations, something that would exist during a hurricane.

Phase One utilized VHF and UHF frequencies only using a combination of hand-held radios at ground level, and mobile units 10 miles apart in a triangular layout. The mobiles used 23-foot painters' poles to maximize line of sight distance. There was also passing time stamped traffic. A summary of the results showed mobile to hand-held range was generally reliable out to about 5 miles. Future such operations will try to extend the range to 8 miles. Some suggestions were made by attendees to improve future such operations.

Phase Two, to take place on Saturday, April 24, 2021 will utilize 4 fixed locations, with communication taking place on 6 meters and 40 meters. Modes will include voice, JS8 and WinLink.

Phase Three is being scheduled for fall, 2021, and its objectives and goals are yet to be defined.
